

Cooperative Partnerships for Sustainable Resource Processing: Individual Contributions to our Common Goals.

- What: Invitation to the 2007 CSRP Conference
- Where: Melbourne: CSIRO Facility Clayton (Vic)
- When: November 21st and 22nd.
- Who: All participants of CSRP Programs and projects
- Cost: $285 (Including GST)

All members of the CSRP community are strongly encouraged to attend this CSRP conference. It is the only opportunity this year for us all to interact and showcase our work and get information about the future of CSRP including the re-bid.

The Centre for Sustainable Resource Processing (CSRP) seeks to enhance minerals processing by reducing demand for energy, water and other inputs and to better utilise by-products and waste. In order to achieve this, five key programs have been established. They are in the areas of Sustainable Development, Energy, Green House Gases, Waste Utilisation and Water Resources.

All of these programs are dependant on people feeling as though they can make a difference and are part of a larger team.A primary goal of this conference is to provide an opportunity to allow researchers, industry and students who are part of the CSRP community to show what it is that "They do" to contribute to and achieve our common goals.

Registration Fee: $285.00 (Including GST)

Includes proceedings, food and Conference Dinner.

Travel Subsidy

To encourage the maximum number of CSRP related students and researchers to attend the conference, CSRP will provide a limited number of subsidies towards flights and accommodation for CSRP students and some researchers. Apply through your CSRP Program leader.
